The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the B-DI Parenting website. The browser's address bar shows the URL <http://www.b-di.com/parenting.html>. The website header features the B-DI logo with the tagline "Understanding Behavioral Individuality" and a navigation menu with links for Home, Parents, Students, Researchers, Clinicians, and Resources. Below the header, there are several featured articles and sections:

- From YouTube: Discussion about temperament and discipline. (Accompanied by a video thumbnail showing a group of people in a classroom setting.)
- Current Issue of BDI News: Caring for the High Maintenance Child? by Kate Andersen. Includes a "Dear Kate" section where she shares a personal experience with her son's teacher.
- Resilience, Parenting Techniques & Discipline: Why are children so different? Because each has his or her own temperament! This accounts for why infants and children need to be raised in different ways. Parenting methods and techniques must be compatible with their personalities. (Accompanied by a photo of a smiling woman.)
- Parenting Info: A sidebar containing several sub-sections:
 - Temperament FAQs: Get answers to some common questions about behavioral style. Origins, impact on parenting, tips for behavioral issues, relationship to ADHD, and other topics.
 - Goodness of Fit: Getting to know your child's temperament is assessed. Poor fit can lead to stress and possibly emotional or behavioral problems.
 - Getting help: Providers when professional help is needed. There are qualified individuals from several disciplines who counsel parents and children.
 - Books for parents: Spirited child? Find out how to meet the challenge. Learn how to identify and cope with temperament traits in your child.
- Places to Go: A sidebar with links for What's New?, Things to do, FAQs, Discover your temperament?, Kate's Newsletter, B-DI Catalog, Providers, Temperament Bibliography, and Listserv.
- Adult temperament: Learn about your true self. Take the Adult Temperament Questionnaire. (Accompanied by a photo of a man.)
- Things to do at this site: (Accompanied by a photo of a family.)
- Tune in to your child's individuality: Key Points:
 - Do not punish the child for temperamental style. If a child is shy, she should not be reprimanded for being hesitant toward a stranger. If the child adapts gradually, she shouldn't be punished for not obeying completely if her response is better than last time (moving in the right direction). If the child is intense she shouldn't be criticized for being loud when she feels upset, just as she isn't punished for being loud when she is happy. If a child is irregular, she shouldn't be punished for not being hungry at every meal or not ready to sleep at every bed time.

Things to Do on the Parenting page at the new B-DI website:

- *Watch a YouTube video on temperament and parenting issues
- *Read Kate Andersen's newsletter on high maintenance children
 - *Review FAQs about temperament for parents
 - *Take an ATQ2 to assess adult temperament
 - *Find Books on raising spirited children

New!!! Carey Temperament Scales iReport Writer 3

Online scoring with great new features!

The NEW ATQ2.

You won't be treated like a college sophomore.

Unless you are one!

The new ATQ2 has been updated to incorporate age and gender norms for 16 different groups ranging from teens to 60+. So no matter your age or gender, your temperament profile will reflect your individual demographics and compare you to others like yourself.

The new norms were established, based on over 3400 adults who completed the original ATQ. The process allows users to select the norms to be used for their temperament profile (e.g., college age males, females in their 40s, etc.) or to use the original, now called 'classic,' norms. Doing this adjusts the user's profile interpretations to an appropriate age and gender comparison group, resulting in a more meaningful interpretation. In addition profile category descriptions have been extended from three to five levels for each of the nine scales, allowing for finer grained statements about temperament for each individual.

So whether you just want to discover your own temperament profile, or let your whole class learn about theirs, the ATQ2 is ready to go at www.b-di.com/atqweb.html.

Professionally supervised online assessment.

Just make the referral and print the report!

A secure web portal for behavioral health professionals to enhance their care of clients/patients/students. ipasscode.com uses the patented 'passcode referral method' to allow professionals to refer clients to the internet to complete a questionnaire on themselves, their children or their students.

Faster! Professional can refer electronically, even without the patient present.

More efficient! The ipasscode.com system scores, interprets and delivers the test results to the professional instantly.

More economical! Tests are only purchased only when required. No need to maintain a large inventory of different tests and versions.

More flexible! Professionals can try new tests without purchasing an entire kit.

100% secure! ipasscode.com uses the same web security used by banks and financial institutions to safeguard privacy for their users!

Free to register! Free to issue passcodes!

www.ipasscode.com/register

How ipasscode referrals work.

Professionals who provide behavioral health services to patients, clients or students are eligible to use ipasscode.com. Registration is free, and simply involves setting up an ipasscode account. Once credentials are verified, the professional receives a username and password and can begin to refer to the web for assessments. Test results are sent directly to the professional's account when the test form is submitted to the ipasscode server.

To make a referral, the professional chooses the client and then selects the test(s) needed, how the passcode is to be delivered, and the payment arrangements for the test. The passcode is created and given to the person who will be completing the test. When the client enters the passcode into the website, it recognizes the referral and presents the intended information for completion. When submitted the data are scored and an interpretive report is created and sent to the professional's account. An email notifies the professional that the report has been received.

Three methods of payment! The professional decides how the test is to be purchased: 1) by the client with their credit card, 2) by the professional, billing the client later or 3) by the professional or agency using prepaid test uses.

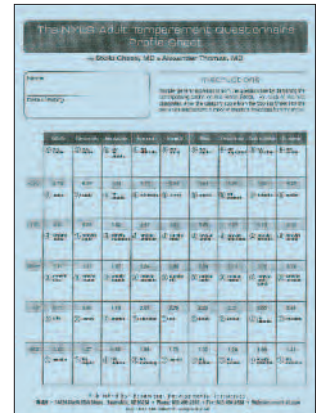

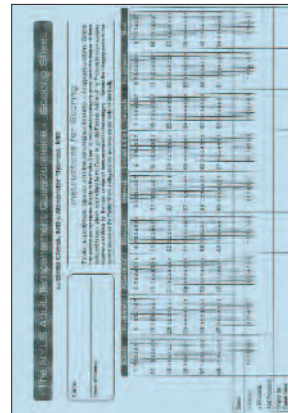

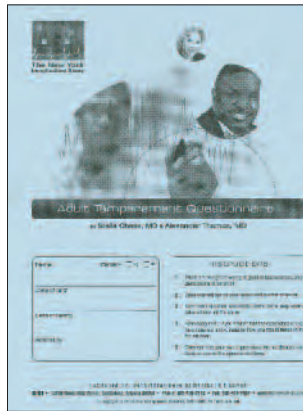

The NYLS Adult Temperament Questionnaire, 2nd Edition

by Stella Chess MD & Alexander Thomas MD

Updated version standardized on over 3400 protocols!

Adult temperament characteristics can now be assessed more accurately with the NYLS Adult Temperament Questionnaire. This 54 item self report questionnaire is easily administered and scored using the profile and scoring sheets included with the set. In 2008, the ATQ online was updated to incorporate user experience and feedback. Broader norms were established, based on over 3400 adults who had completed the original ATQ. The process now allows users to select the norms that will be used for their temperament profile (e.g., college age males, females in their 40s, etc.) or to use the original, now called 'classic,' norms. Doing this will adjust the user's profile interpretations to an appropriate age and gender comparison group, resulting in a more meaningful interpretation. In addition profile category descriptions were extended from three to five levels for each of the nine scales, allowing for finer grained statements about temperament for each individual.

The BASICS Behavioral Adjustment Scale

BBAS Practice Set

BBAS Questionnaire

iBBAS Report

The BBAS is 48 item parent report questionnaire that determines behavioral adjustment in 4 to 14 year old children. Behavioral adjustment is defined by 5 areas of functioning:

- Behavior in social relationships (parents, sibs, teachers, etc);
- Achievement (schoolwork, homework, chores, hobbies);
- Self-Relations (self-esteem, self-care, self-regulation);
- Internal State (contentment, anxiety, mood, thought processes);
- Coping (identifying, solving, persisting, etc);
- Symptoms (eating, sleeping, elimination, etc).

The aspects of behavior assessed by the BBAS go beyond the child’s normal temperament style to determine the level of behavioral adjustment, including symptoms and areas of difficulty in functioning in the youngster’s home, school and community settings. While not diagnostic of emotional or behavioral disorders in DSM-IV, the BBAS identifies areas that need to be addressed to improve overall adjustment. Individual item scores can be used as markers for areas where further assessment and possible intervention are needed. Scale scores are compared with a large sample of normal children aged 4-14 to see where the child stands in comparison to peers at the same age level. Together these data can assist the clinician in setting up an overall plan to meet the child’s needs.

BBAS iReport Writer: online scoring of behavioral adjustment

BBAS Online Scoring Report

The internet scoring version of BBAS (iBBAS) utilizes the web for scoring the questionnaire and generates a written report that displays the scores and organizes the results. Users need an internet connection and a valid email address to implement this option.

Online scoring is accomplished by logging in to an internet page and entering the BBAS ratings from the BBAS questionnaire. The scoring program generates a 3 page report which summarizes the caregiver's responses into a visually appealing and clinically useful document in html format. An email notifies the professional of the confirmation number of the report which can be accessed on the web for one year following the date of scoring. The report document can be printed in color or b/w, posted on the internet or emailed to the caregiver or another professional for easy viewing in a standard web browser. The html file can also be saved on the professional's own computer using the simple instructions provided.

The Temperament Perspective:

working with children's behavioral styles

by

Jan Kristal

For Professionals Who Use Temperament in Their Work

Required reading for everyone who has any influence on the lives of individual children. . . Jan Kristal is a genius, in my opinion, when it comes to temperament issues in children.

Elaine Aron, PhD, Author of The Highly Sensitive Person and The Highly Sensitive Child

Presents clear and practical suggestions on how to recognize and manage children's challenging temperament differences.

William B. Carey, MD, The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia; co-author of Coping with Children's Temperament and Understanding Your Child's Temperament .

Well researched, thought provoking, and delightfully readable.

Mary Sheedy Kurcinka, MA, author of Raising Your Spirited Child

Weaving in Jan Kristal's research and clinical experience with hundreds of children at Kaiser Permanente's Temperament Program and in her private practice, this book has the practical guidance professionals need to transform knowledge of temperament into positive interactions and better outcomes. Readers will examine how temperament traits combine to affect children's behavior; how behavior patterns and temperaments typically manifest in infants, toddlers, preschoolers, and school-age children; and how environmental factors affect temperament in child care, school, home, health care, and mental health settings. Throughout the book, lively case studies, helpful tips, and practical guidelines show readers how to:

- address specific behavior challenges such as aggression, shyness, and noncompliance
- adapt environments and adjust learning tasks with sensitivity to individual temperaments
- help children develop peer relationships
- nurture each child's self-esteem
- encourage children to learn self-management skills
- work with parents to help them understand their child and address his or her challenges
- decide when to seek outside help for a child.

Based on the landmark work of Stella Chess and Alexander Thomas, this book will help a broad range of professionals improve interactions by working with each child's individual temperament.

Coping with Children's Temperament: A Guide for Professionals

Still available through digital reprint! in stock!

Understanding your child's temperament.

NEW EDITION!!

by William B. Carey, MD

with Martha Jablow.

Written for parents and professionals by one of the foremost experts in the field, this is a comprehensive guide for caregivers who are challenged by a temperamentally 'difficult' child. This book educates and informs the average reader about temperament and gives practical advice about how to 1) understand behavioral style in infants and children, and 2) address concerns about behavior. It also contains an informative list of resources for parents who need support and guidance.

"(Dr. Carey) explains what temperament is, why it is significant, and how it affects both children and parents. He shows parents how to recognize and handle a range of different--yet normal--temperament styles. Perhaps more important, he offers solid suggestions for working effectively and harmoniously with a child's inborn temperament."
